OPERATION STREETSWEEPER

MANCHESTER MAN SENTENCED FOR HEROIN DISTRIBUTION

CONCORD, NEW HAMPSHIRE: United States Attorney Tom Colantuono today announced that David Beaudry, age 27, of Manchester, NH, was sentenced to a 4 month term of imprisonment, followed by a 3 year period of supervised release by Judge Steven McAuliffe, for his involvement in the distribution of ten bags of heroin outside of his West Shore Road residence in Manchester, New Hampshire. The Court also sentenced Beaudry to a period of home detention with electronic monitoring.

The prosecution was the result of an investigation by the New Hampshire State Police Narcotics Investigation Unit. United States Attorney Colantuono applauded the continuing efforts of the New Hampshire State Police Narcotics Investigation Unit stating, "The State Police have a long history of investigating and seeking prosecution of complex drug networks within the State of New Hampshire. They understand and recognize, however, that street level dealers such as David Beaudry pose a real threat to the community if left unchecked. This case, much like other Operation Streetsweeper cases, demonstrates that law enforcement agencies within the state are dedicated to the investigation of drug trafficking on all levels, both large and small, in an effort to eradicate drugs from New Hampshire."

The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Terry L. Ollila.
